HOWARD THORSHEIM

Professor of Psychology and Neuroscience

Howard Iver Thorsheim '63 has covered a lot of ground during his tenure at St. Olaf. A third generation Norwegian-American, Thorsheim arrived on the Hill as an undergraduate student in 1959, where he met his wife, Julie Loken '63, at a freshman mixer. He fell in love — first with Julie, and then with psychology — after taking a course his junior year with Professor Olaf W. Millert. He then went on to earn his master's degree and Ph.D. in experimental psychology, with a focus in what is now called cognitive neuroscience, at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Thorsheim joined the St. Olaf psychology faculty in 1968 and has sought throughout his forty-four years of teaching to help students discover connections between psychology and their interests, encouraging them to contribute their talents to the world to make it a better place. During that time, he has focused on engaging students in interdisciplinary research to discern the systemic interrelationship between societal needs on the one hand and active brain processes in cognition and emotion on the other.

Thorsheim prefers working in partnership with students and colleagues, both at St. Olaf and around the world, as well as with administrative leadership and staff. He says he finds such work fulfilling, adding "I learn so much, and the results are better than if I worked alone." Some of those partnerships stretch across the globe, including an international professional partnership that began with a Fulbright research fellowship at the University of Oslo (Norway) and the Norwegian Gerontological Institute. Thorsheim continues to work on a number of international projects, including a collaborative video with a colleague from Norway on cognitive neuroscience using functional magnetic resonance imagery (fMRI).

Thorsheim recently completed six years of research funded by the National Science Foundation to develop psychophysiology materials and pedagogy in partnership with community college faculty across the country. The project involved more than fifty community colleges in twenty-seven states and thousands of students. His work will help faculty encourage their students to explore the cognitive neuroscience of mind-body interactions.

Products of his applied and theoretical research include more than one hundred national and international books, journal articles or professional conference presentations, including "Praxis through Shared Life Stories: A Design Process for Community Empowerment through Social Elaboration of Learning," co-authored with long-time St. Olaf colleague Bruce Roberts. He also co-invented and patented an interactive print-book format with Roberts (Educational book with interactive elements), which included some features now incorporated into digital e-books. One of his current projects is an interactive e-book titled Psychophysiology: The Neuroscience of the Active Brain and Mind-Body Interaction, designed to engage students and to increase their sense of competence in learning mind-body neuroscience.

Thorsheim and his wife have four sons, Peter, Thomas, Kristoffer, and Martin '00, as well as four grandsons, Erik, Jacob, Forrester, and Luke.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The traditional academic procession introduces many of the more formal and significant events at St. Olaf, as it does on most college and university campuses. Although the history of wearing distinctive apparel as an indication of scholarship and academic rank dates back to 1321, the practice was not adopted throughout the United States until about 1900.

The cap worn almost universally in academic processions is the Oxford cap, better known as the mortarboard. It is always black. A different style, called the Cambridge cap, resembles a large beret.

The use of a dark robe in academic processions is thought to have arisen from the clerical practice of wearing a cape or mantle in religious processions in the 12th and 13th centuries when universities arose from cathedral schools.

Traditionally, gowns are also black. However, a number of universities have adopted alternate gowns that use their traditional school colors, such as crimson for Harvard, blue for Yale, maroon for Chicago, and orange hashmarks and lining for Princeton.

The academic hoods, worn around the neck and down the back of the gown, are lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree. The binding or edging of the hood is usually distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains, as follows: economics, copper;

education, light blue; fine arts, brown; humanities, white; law, purple; library science, lemon; medicine, green; music, pink; nursing, apricot; philosophy, dark blue; physical education, sage green; science, golden yellow; social science, cream; social work, citron; speech, silver gray; and theology, scarlet.

COLLEGE HYMN

Fram! Fram! St. Olaf!

1. Krist - menn, Kross - menn in daunt-less quest,
2. Grant that spir - it to lead us still

Led by the spir - it of truth, Reared for the race a on - ward as a - ges un-roll, Caught by the Kross - menn home in the west Filled with the song of shrined on the hill, Steep - led to lift the youth. Found - ed in faith to ren - der light, soul. Give us a - gain the heart a - glow,

Ra - diant to - day it crowns the height,
Stirred by the songs of Ma - ni - tou.

Ris - ing glor - ious and, un - der God, vic - to - rious,
Ev - er glor - ious and, un - der God, vic - to - rious.

Fram! Fram! St. Ol - af! Im - pelled we sing, sing to thee.

Fram! Fram! St. Ol - af! The hill - tops ring: Fram! Fram! Free!
