O WALY WALY

During the faculty procession and recession, the audience is asked to stand in place and observe a respectful silence.

ERIC LUND

Professor of Religion

Eric Lund joined the St. Olaf religion faculty in 1979 and has spent his entire teaching career at the college. A Connecticut native, he earned his B.A. at Brown University, his M.Div. at Yale Divinity School, and his M.A., M.Phil., and Ph.D. at Yale University.

During his first 25 years teaching religion at St. Olaf, Lund taught the history of Christianity and historical theology. He was active in the Paracollege and taught in the Great Conversation program as well as Foreign Languages Across the Curriculum (FLAC). Lund's academic research has related primarily to religious life in 16th- and 17th-century Germany and Scandinavia. He has focused on the later stages of the Reformation, the continuing influence of some medieval Catholic resources in early modern Protestantism, the development of popular piety, and the history of practical religious literature. These interests have been reflected in his Interim course, Catholic Rome, Lutheran Wittenberg, which he teaches in Italy and Germany. Lund has, to date, taught in Italy 16 times.

Lund has led 22 International Studies programs in several European countries, the Middle East, and South Africa. He is planning his 23rd — and final — Interim program for students in January 2015. Lund also has led three St. Olaf Study Travel programs. This longtime connection to the International and Off-Campus Studies Office as an instructor for study abroad programs was extended when Lund became director of International and Off-Campus Studies in 2005. He served in that capacity through December 2013.

Participating in study abroad programs expanded Lund's own horizons as well as those of his students. After twice leading Term in the Middle East, he began teaching courses about religious conflict in the Middle East and the comparative study of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Teaching Interim courses in South Africa since 1996 also led to Lund's deeper involvement in recent years in national African studies academic organizations. In addition to his teaching and research, Lund has published a history of Lutheranism from 1517 to 1750, a volume on Seventeenth Century Lutheran Meditations and Hymns, and a volume on English reformer William Tyndale, which he co-edited.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The traditional academic procession introduces many of the more formal and significant events at St. Olaf, as it does on most college and university campuses. Although the history of wearing distinctive apparel as an indication of scholarship and academic rank dates back to 1321, the practice was not adopted throughout the United States until about 1900.

The cap worn almost universally in academic processions is the Oxford cap, better known as the mortarboard. It is always black. A different style, called the Cambridge cap, resembles a large beret.

The use of a dark robe in academic processions is thought to have arisen from the clerical practice of wearing a cape or mantle in religious processions in the 12th and 13th centuries when universities arose from cathedral schools.

Traditionally, gowns are also black. However, a number of universities have adopted alternate gowns that use their traditional school colors, such as crimson for Harvard, blue for Yale, maroon for Chicago, and orange hashmarks and lining for Princeton.

The academic hoods, worn around the neck and down the back of the gown, are lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree. The binding or edging of the hood is usually distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains, as follows: economics, copper; education, light blue; fine arts, brown; humanities, white; law, purple; library science, lemon; medicine, green; music, pink; nursing, apricot; philosophy, dark blue; physical education, sage green; science, golden yellow; social science, cream; social work, citron; speech, silver gray; and theology, scarlet.

IN EXPLANATION

The general honors list includes all full-time students who have a cumulative grade point average, through Interim, of cum laude (3.60) or above.

For further information on GPA requirements, visit the St. Olaf Registrar's website at stolaf.edu/offices/registrar.

The St. Olaf scholarships and awards that are listed are provided in large measure by specially designated gifts to the college.

THE RECEPTION

All students, visiting parents, donors of scholarships and awards, and faculty and staff are invited to a reception in the Crossroads of Buntrock Commons immediately following the Honors Day convocation.
