- 19. Most colleges and universities today are struggling with tensions related to race relations, sexual harassment, responsible alcohol use and physical safety. Please describe any new programs or policies dealing with these issues.

To re-affirm the college's commitment to service, diversity and inclusion, St. Olaf established the Office of Community Life and Diversity in June 2000. Through leadership program development and service and program support for students, this office has been instrumental in programs such as the Teagle Diversity Project, and continues to coordinate college wide programs to generate understanding, respect and appreciation of diversity and community issues.
